In the Claims

Kindly amend the claims as follows:

- B1*
1. (amended currently) A unilayer flexible tensile textile performance fabric comprising a base fabric having a predetermined design of a pattern continuously formed therein by a step of selectively manipulating and chain-stitching on a programmed knitting machine into said base fabric at least one dissimilar high performance fiber into said base fabric in the same layer with a preselected single needle wherein said step of manipulating is computer controlled and a unilayer fabric is formed.
  2. (original) The textile fabric of claim 1 wherein said base fabric is formed of fibers having a tensile modulus of elasticity of 3,000kg/mm<sup>2</sup> or more.
